Local Student Art Featured in 2022 Clean Air Calendar

(Davis, CA) – Yolo-Solano Air Quality Management District’s (YSAQMD) annual Clean Air Calendar Contest invited K-12 students throughout the Air District to submit artwork illustrating this year’s theme, “You’re the Key to a Clean Air Future.” There were 76 drawings submitted, and District staff had the difficult yet rewarding task of selecting 12 works of art to be included on this year’s calendar.

The artwork from the following students was selected and they received a Certificate of Achievement, a $30 gift card, and copies of the 2022 Clean Air Calendar.

- Jackelyn Cooper, Shirley Rominger Intermediate School
- Elianna Duran, Shirley Rominger Intermediate School
- Jovie Fisher, Waggoner Elementary School
- Joanna Liao, Holmes Junior High School
- Leah Longoria, John Knight Middle School
- Sarah Luckenbill, Patwin Elementary School
- Benjamin Martinez, Waggoner Elementary School
- Marilyn Montoya Ramos, John Knight Middle School
- Nora Nolan, Shirley Rominger Intermediate School
- Nate Pagano, John Knight Middle School
- Muzammil Raza, Douglass Middle School
- Clarissa Uribe, Waggoner Elementary School

“We were excited to see so many wonderful and creative entries this year. Through their artwork, students were able to show what they learned about air pollution and ways they can improve air quality in their community,” said Public Outreach Coordinator, Karin Bloesch.

Yolo-Solano Air Quality Management District holds the Calendar Contest each year as a fun and engaging opportunity for District students to learn about air quality. The District supports its mission to protect human health and property from the harmful effects of air pollution through outreach, public education, and engagement throughout the year.
