

Agricultural Burn Fees

The current fees for Yolo-Solano AQMD's agricultural burn program can be found below.

You must pay the base permit fee when applying for your agricultural burn permit. All other fees accrued through the year will be invoiced in January. You will have the opportunity to renew your burn permit as that point, as well.

There are no Yolo-Solano AQMD fees associated with rural yard burning. Check with your local fire district for permit requirements.

Base Permit Fee: Each agricultural burn permit shall be subject to a base fee pursuant to Section 41512.5 of the California Health & Safety Code and additional fees as indicated below.	$30.00*
Field Crop Stubble: Including, but not limited to wheat, corn, safflower, oats , and barley; also includes roadways, fence lines, irrigation ditches and field borders.	$1.25 per acre
Rice Stubble: Fee includes costs for administration of the Rice Straw Burning Phasedown Regulation; also includes roadways, fence lines, irrigation ditches and field borders.	$1.50 per acre
Orchard Prunings: Including roadways, fence lines, irrigation ditches and field borders.	$.85 per acre
Miscellaneous Burning: Including, but not limited to reclamation district levees, wildland vegetation management burning, range management burning, pastures, or fallow fields that are not subject to field crop stubble, rice stubble or orchard prunings as listed above. Also includes roadways, fence lines, irrigation ditches and field borders.	$1.00 per acre
*The above fee includes the cost imposed by the Sacramento Valley Basinwide Air Pollution Control Council at $5.00 per permit issued.	